

One of our clients, Aircharge, have moved their London address to a new showroom in Clerkenwell.

See below their press release regarding the move:

We are proud to announce that Aircharge has moved to a brand-new location in Clerkenwell, London. It has been an exciting 6 years for Aircharge in The Gallery, our previous showroom, but we couldn't be more proud about our new space.

As Aircharge continues to grow as a brand and a business, we needed a new innovation space that could accommodate this growth and reflect our brand identity and culture.

Our new London home is still located in the heart of Clerkenwell, one of the Capital's most important hubs for companies in the creative and tech sectors, with increasing investments in connectivity both online and offline and in close proximity with the Silicon Roundabout.

Earlier this year we also opened our first tech showroom in Chicago to support our US expansion.

Come and visit our new London showroom to discover the latest wireless charging solutions for public spaces, transport and the office.

Our new address is 31 Great Sutton Street, Clerkenwell, London, EC1V 0NA